INTRODUCTION

Act No. 323, Public Acts 1913, provided for the publication of a list of books suitable for township libraries. In compliance with the act this compilation has been prepared by Miss Mabel C. True. The books included are suitable for high schools, though not obligatory. This list supplements the Preferred List of Books for District Schools. It has seemed best to repeat a few of the titles found in the former list.

Basis of Selection. In selecting these books three things have been taken into consideration: the contents of the book and its suitability; the literary value of the treatment; and the mechanical make-up of the book. This last point has influenced in the choice of editions.

Prices. The prices are strictly net—that being the discount price for which the book may be bought. If possible purchases should be made from local dealers. If they cannot meet the prices the following booksellers have agreed to furnish them at the prices quoted in the catalogue:

Maccauley Brothers	Detroit
J. V. Sheehan Co.	Detroit
George Wahr	Ann Arbor

The prices do not, however, include shipping charges which are paid by the purchaser from the point from which the books are purchased.

Parcel Post. Packages of books weighing not more than twenty pounds may be sent through the mail; full information on this subject may be obtained from the postmaster.

Supplies for a Library. The Library Bureau publishes a catalog entitled Card Catalog and Administrative Outfits for Small Libraries. This presents suggestive lists at outfit prices considerably lower than the individual prices of the several articles. Address Library Bureau, Detroit, Mich., for a catalog.

Special List of Books. At the end of the general list of books, there is a list of references helpful to those interested in the present war crisis. It has been reprinted through the kindness of the Review of Reviews Co.

MARY C. SPENCER,
State Librarian.

FRED L. KEELER,
Supt. of Public Instruction.

BOOKS FOR REFERENCE AND TEACHERS' LIBRARIES

The teacher may secure many public documents for the asking. These include national, state and city publications and often help out the work in geography, history, geology, natural history, physics, chemistry, biology and education. U. S. Government documents in small libraries, by Wyer, published by the A. L. A. for 10c will be of great value in selecting them.

The Encyclopedia Britannica, the New international encyclopedia and the Century dictionary and encyclopedia have not been included on account of cost. A new edition of the International is announced for 1915 and the 11th ed. of the Britannica was published in 1911. Further information will be furnished upon request to the State library.

CONDUCT OF LIFE. ETHICS

Alexander, J. L., ed. Boy training. Ass'n press.....	.50
Concise, practical articles by various leaders, presenting little more than the principles that should underlie the training of boys and the influences and relationships that must be reckoned with. The section on "The fourfold normal development of boyhood" presents some helpful material for workers that has not been included in earlier books. A brief but good bibliography (27 titles), introduction by Ernest Thompson Seton and foreword by the editor, who is secretary of the Boy scouts of America.—A. L. A.
Berle, A. A. The school in the home. Moffat.....	.90
Talks with parents and teachers on intensive child training.
Brown, C. R. The young man's affairs. Crowell.....	.85
Seven talks from a religious viewpoint about a young man's most vital concerns and interests; distinguished by a grasp of essentials, sound common sense and a picturesque and humorous style.—A. L. A.

Brownlee, Jane. Character building in school. Houghton.....		$0.85
"This book is the outgrowth of eight years' experience in the definite moral training of children through instruction in the right use of their power to think." A book for the teacher, being a guide to daily schoolroom work in teaching self-control, obedience, and all that makes for right living.—OREGON.
Cabot, Dr. R. C. What men live by. Houghton.....	1.27
A physician's solution of what men need—work, play, love and worship.
Call, A. P. Power through repose. New ed. Little.....	.85
The gospel of relaxation, as one may call it, is preached in this admirable little volume, which ought to be in the hands of every teacher and student in America of either sex.—WILLIAM JAMES.
Carruth, W. H. Letters to American boys. Amer. unit. ass'n....	.70
Straightforward, interesting letters about manners, attitude toward members of the family, games, the "gang", study, the teacher, learning a trade, going into business, being a doctor, etc.—OREGON.
Conklin, M. G. Conversation; what to say and how to say it. Funk..	.63
Suggestive little book, written for people who wish to improve. Point is frequently given by relating anecdotes, actual blunders and wise dicta of Stevenson, Mahaffy, Sydney Smith and other conversationalists are skilfully interlarded.—A. L. A.
Dewey, Mrs. J. M. Lessons on morals arranged for grammar schools, high schools, and academies. Hinds.....	.60
To help children to learn to decide rightly questions of conduct and to become strong and self-reliant in character.—OREGON.
Everett, C. C. Ethics for young people. Ginn.....	.45
Chapters on morality in general, duties toward one's self, duties toward others, helps and hindrances. Somewhat difficult for children, but excellent for the teacher's use.—OREGON.
Forbush, W. B. The boy problem. 6th ed. Pilgrim press.....	.45
Serious study of adolescence and of the associations formed by and for boys. Emphasis on the function of the church. Harvard guide. Extensively revised in this edition.—A. L. A.
Fowler, N. C. Art of letter writing. Sully.....	.40
A handbook covering the whole field of correspondence. Gives specific directions on good form, general advice on the body of the letter, and general information on postage rules. The suggestions on business practice will be specially helpful; the division on the art and practice of polite correspondence betrays social inexperience.—A. L. A.
Gulick, L. H. Mind and work. Doubleday.....	1.02
Stimulating, practical talks on the relation between mental condition and physical efficiency.—A. L. A.
Hyde, W. D. The quest of the best. Crowell.....	.85
"Insights into ethics for parents, teachers and leaders of boys." Sub-title. "For the top shelf, out of the boy's reach." Thus it warns against making boys self-conscious in all this study of their natures. It also warns leaders against too much self-consciousness, and gives practical, sensible, suggestions for helping boys, incidentally girls, to "find themselves." Lectures delivered before

Kahlenberg, Louis & Hart, E. B. Chemistry and its relation to daily life; a textbook for students of agriculture and home economics in secondary schools. Macmillan..... $1.12
Aim has been to make the subject-matter thoroughly practical and to present it in an interesting and simple way.—INTROD.

Smith, Alexander & Hall, E. H. Teaching of chemistry and physics in the secondary school. (American teachers' ser.) Longmans... 1.35
This volume, really two books, as each of the authors treats his subject separately, takes a place at once, alone and without a rival in an important field. It is a manual of method written for teachers from the pedagogical point of view, yet full of the authority of specialists in the subjects treated. It shows the giant strides in the study of the physical sciences in our high schools during fifteen years. The book is written for trained and prepared teachers who know their subject and to all such it should be an indispensable handbook for constant reading and reference.—WYER.

Lacks index.—A. L. A.	.40
Lounsberry, Alice. A guide to trees. Stokes..... The necessary amount of scientific knowledge regarding trees is combined with an account of the character and recognized place each tree holds in sentiment and tradition. An attractive feature of the book is the great number of drawings and illustrations in color.	1.60
McFarland, J. H. Getting acquainted with the trees. (Macmillan's standard library) Macmillan..... Not scientific sketches, but popular.	.40
Meier, W. H. D. School and home gardens. Ginn..... Contains compact and thorough directions concerning most of the plants which schools and homes require, including the care of trees, shrubs and vines and the work of grafting. The study, transplanting and cultivation of wild flowers are encouraged also. In style and illustration the book is a model, but its mature vocabulary and its assumption of a pretty complete knowledge of garden theory and practice unfit it for its intended use as a textbook in grammar grades. Condensed from the Nation.	.72
Miller, L. K. Children's gardens. Appleton..... The worthy purpose of this book is "the transforming of barren, dreary, ill-kept school grounds and other uncared for public places into bowers of beauty and good taste."—N. Y.	1.02

Burroughs, John. Bird stories from Burroughs: sketches of bird life taken from the works of John Burroughs. School edition. Houghton..... A chapter is given to each species of bird in this selection of the most interesting of his bird stories.—OREGON.	.54
Birds and bees, Sharp eyes, and other papers. (River-side literature ser.) Houghton..... A collection of his best nature essays. Charming in style, accurate in observation, and adapted to the understanding and vocabulary of a child.—OREGON.	.54
Coupin, H. & Lea, John. The romance of animal arts and crafts. Lippincott..... Apparently this is the first book upon a very unique subject. The subject title states that it is "an interesting account of the spinning, weaving, sewing, manufacturing of paper and pottery, aeronautics, raft building, road making and various other industries of wild life." Some of the interesting topics dealt with are suggested by the following page headings: The underground fortress—Robber crafts—The perfect incubator—Magpie fortifications—Cake making—The ant's pavilions—A ferocious infant—Parasol ants—Why a spider's aeroplane rises. There are about thirty illustrations.—AMER. INST. OF CHILD LIFE.	1.27
Hornaday, W. T. American natural history Scribner..... Popular. Intended to bridge chasm between scientific zoology and the nature studies of grammar grades.—N. Y.	2.93
It is a bulky volume richly illustrated with photographs and packed full of facts. Mr. Hornaday's life has been spent among wild animals, as hunter, trapper, keeper, collector; and this in spite of the very scientific cast of the book, often gives it a personal, first-hand flavor hardly to be expected in a general natural history, even when limited to American fauna.—OREGON.
Ingersoll, Ernest. The wit of the wild. New ed. Dodd..... A trained observer's popular and fairly conservative comments on the habits and characteristics of birds, insects and mammals.—N. Y.	1.12
Job, H. K. How to study birds. Outing..... A sensible guide for beginners and an interesting volume for all bird-lovers. CHURCH

Butterfield, K. H. Country church and rural problem. Univ. of Chic.90
Outlines the task of the church and the qualifications of its minister and discusses completely and hopefully the problems that arise in rural church work.

Gill, C. O. & Pinchot, Gifford. The country church. Macmillan. 1.12
"The decline of its influence and its remedy."—Sub-title. Summarizes the results of the most thorough and systematic investigation of the country church yet made in this country. Facts are given in some detail, largely by means of statistical tables and diagrams. Judges the value of the country church exclusively from the point of view of its social service.—A. L. A.

COOPERATION

Coulter, J. L. Cooperation among farmers, the keystone of rural prosperity. (Young farmers' rural lib.) Sturgis.85
Farmers and merchants will find much of interest in this clear and popular plea for cooperative selling, buying and organization in the rural districts, in order to bring about educational, economic and social betterment. There are chapters on citrus fruits and on nuts.—A. L. A.

Myrick, Herbert. Cooperative finance. Judd. 2.10
To encourage business farming, home owning, individual and corporate success, social justice and national prosperity.

Powell, G. H. Cooperation in agriculture. (Rural sci. ser.) Macmillan. 1.27
Deals with the general principles of cooperation. How to organize cooperative societies, how to finance them, simple organizations and constitutional documents, by-laws and general advice as to the administration of the associations or societies are all considered. The author describes at some length the most famous organizations, such as those which are handling citrus fruits in California, the famous grain elevator systems, and the present cooperation in the creamery and butter business. It is in other words, a practical guide for those who desire to organize cooperative societies and wish to escape the usual pit-falls.—PUB.

Wilson, W. H. Evolution of the country community. Pilgrim press. 1.06
A careful study of the successive types of rural community that have prevailed in the United States and of the social and religious conditions that have been peculiar to each. It shows how the growing social coherence of the communities has made necessary a broader social policy on the part of the country church and maintains that it is only through the service of the church as an organizer and unifier of community life and an upholder of ideals aided by an improved country school that rural social problems can be solved. Franklin H. Giddings contributes an introduction.—A. L. A.

FORESTRY

Cheney, E. G. & Wentling, J. P. The farm woodlot. (Rural sci. ser.) Macmillan..... 1.35

A handbook of forestry for the farmer and student of agriculture.

Pinchot, Gifford. Making of a forester. Lippincott..... .90

Explains what forestry is, what the duties of the various forestry positions are, what personal equipment and professional training are needed, what opportunities are offered in state, federal and private service. Written especially for the young man who is attracted to the profession but who is not advised to enter, unless he has "a compelling love for the forester's life and the forester's work."—A. L. A.

Roth, Filibert. First book of forestry. Ginn..... .65

Gives in simple, non-technical language chapters on the woods, protection of the forest, use of the forest, how to distinguish common trees, etc. Schools should also get from the U. S. Forest service at Washington a copy of Pinchot's two excellent little volumes Primer of forestry, which are free government documents.—OREGON.

Seton, E. T. The forester's manual; or, The forest trees of eastern North America. (Scout manual ser.) Doubleday..... .85

Gives the identification of the tree, made absolutely easy by drawings and descriptions, where each tree is to be found—with actual maps of the range of the species, and properties and uses of the different trees from the point of view of a scout or woodsman. Trees described are not all found in Oregon, but the book is excellent for descriptions of those found and for the series of maps showing where different kinds of trees are found.—OREGON.

— Phoebe, Ernest and Cupid. Holt	1.14
Further incidents in the lives of Phoebe and Ernest, who, growing up, are confronted with problems which their parents also had to face, the recognition of interests in common between the two generations making for an increased sympathy and understanding. As before, the characters are unusually human and real and the book is written with delightful naturalness. Most of the stories are reprinted from the American magazine.—A. L. A.

Good character study of the Americanized Jew.—A. L. A.
— Grosset40
Goldsmith, E. E. Toby. Macmillan	1.06
A really delightful book. Toby is the lively center of attraction round which gyrate the author's ideas of dogs and men and things in general. Interesting to anyone who loves dogs. Has many illuminating quotations from all quarters, and illustrations which look like genuine snapshots.—A. L. A.
Goldsmith, Oliver. Vicar of Wakefield, with pref. by Austin Dobson and illus. by Hugh Thomson. Macmillan23
No figure in our literature is at once so simple and so impressive, so ideal and so human as the Vicar, and the acquaintance of the Primrose family once made, they and their misfortunes become a dear and imperishable memory. The purity of style is equal to that of the conception.—L. & I.

EXPLORATION, DISCOVERY, ADVENTURE

Borup, George. A tenderfoot with Peary . Stokes.....	$1.89
High spirits, humor and extreme frankness characterize this engaging and boyish account of the Peary polar expedition. It is wholesome, sometimes fine in sentiment, but is marred by an extraordinary amount of unnecessary slang. Rear-Admiral Melville contributes the introduction. The forty-six illustrations are from photographs.—A. L. A.

From earliest times to Nansen. Compact hand-book, with supplementary tables and many maps.—N. Y.
London, Jack. The cruise of the Snark . Macmillan.....	1.70
An interesting account of a voyage which began at San Francisco and was to have extended to all the great seaports of the world, but which because of illness dwindled to cruising among the South Sea Islands—in describing which the author has obviously drawn on his earlier knowledge—and ended in an Australian hospital. The style is animated and without the touches of brutality not uncommon in London's work. The illustrations from photographs add nothing to the chapters which, many of them reprinted from various periodicals, are disconnected and lack unity.—A. L. A.
Peary, R. E. The North Pole; its discovery in 1909 . Stokes.....	4.08

Young, E. R. My dogs in the Northland . Revell.....	1.05
"For years, with great dogs," says the author, "I toiled and often with them was in great perils. Much of my work was accomplished with their aid so I believe in dogs and here in this book I have written of some of them and their deeds." This is the story of Mr. Young's noble work in the Eskimo region of the northwest. Those who like to read of adventure will find this book one to rejoice in greatly. Some of his other interesting books are entitled "On the Indian Trail," "Algonquin Indian Tales," and "The Apostle of the North."—AMER. INST. OF CHILD LIFE.

Van Dyke, Henry. The spirit of America. Macmillan.....	1.35
This is not a great book but it is a very interesting one. Dr. Van Dyke was trying to tell some educated Frenchmen what America is like. He took it for granted that they did not know very much about the soul of our people. One who reads this book should put himself in the attitude of a foreigner who is trying to understand America. If we do not feel that we know much about our own country, we shall find it most inspiring to read what he says about the self-reliance, the fair play, the will power and the social co- operation of the American people.—AMER. BIOGRAPHY, INDIVIDUAL

Adams. Hittell, T. H. The adventures of James Capen Adams, mountaineer and grizzly bear hunter of California. Scribner..... In type, illustration and binding an exact reprint of a book first published in San Francisco in 1860. An extremely readable account of hunting and trapping in California in the 50's set down virtually from Adams' dictation. It contains much information on Indian customs, the game of the far West, snatches of coast Indian jargon, and descriptions of the country as far east as Salt Lake. A postscript tells of Adams death in 1858. "More exciting than most dime novels, but a classic of the Pacific Coast that will charm the average boy."—A. L. A.	1.27

Mitchell, S. W. The youth of Washington. Century..	1.00
Dr. Mitchell has, in a very delightful way, caught the spirit of the life and times of George Washington. In translating this spirit into an autobiography supposedly written by the great man himself in a retrospective glance at his youthful days, the author treats the subject in a fresh, unique way. The story portrays the events of his early days and the narrative of his friendships; his home life; his training as a surveyor; his youthful career as Colonel Washington in the French and Indian war, are told with a rare appreciation of the character of this man, and with a freedom from bombast which is delightful. The language is unusually clear and beautiful.		72
Wister, Owen. Seven ages of Washington. Macmillan	1.70

Haskin, F. J. The Panama canal. Doubleday.....	$1.04
Better and more complete on the engineering features of the canal than Scott. The engineering facts, presented in simple and readable style for the layman, have been corrected by Colonel Goethals. Has less to say of the early history than the above mentioned book, but brings the questions up to a later date, by discussing the fortifications, tolls, permanent operating force, handling the traffic, and the Panama-Pacific exposition. Good illustrations and map.—A. L. A.
Johnson, E. R. Panama canal traffic and tolls. Gov't. print off.....
The much discussed report on tolls, with elaborate investigation into every factor bearing on them—railroad rates, coal costs, tonnage, and the practice of four other great canals. Brings former report down to date.—ST. LOUIS.
Oppenheim, L. The Panama canal conflict between Great Britain and the U. S. Putnam.....	.67
A brief, closely-knit argument, upholding the position of England in the Panama tolls controversy.—ST. LOUIS.
Peck, A. S. The South American tour. Doran.....	2.10
A guide book to the tourist areas of South America. With practical details and sensible advice for travelers are mingled much of historical and descriptive interest. Gathered mostly from the author's own experience and relieved from conventionality by the personal touch. Omits the Guianas, Venezuela, Columbia. Comprehensive classed bibliography.—A. L. A.
Pennell, Joseph. Pictures of the Panama canal. Lippincott.....	1.05
Charming pictures, full of atmosphere. The text is brief and picturesque.—ST. LOUIS.
Prescott, W. H. History of the conquest of Peru; with introd. by Thomas Seccombe. (Everyman's library) Dutton.....	.30
Result of the most elaborate and thorough investigation of manuscript authorities procured from Spain and of other original authorities collected in England and on the continent. The narrative is at once accurate and brilliant and the descriptions of manners and events remarkably vivid and picturesque.—PITTSBURGH.
Ruhl, A. B. The other Americans. Scribner.....	1.70
Entertaining account of South Americans today; countries, cities, government, customs and racial characteristics as contrasted with our own. Appendix gives useful statistics.—A. L. A.
Scott, W. R. The Americans in Panama. Statler pub. co.....	1.21
Somewhat unusual in point of view and not without personal bias. Interesting.—ST. LOUIS.
Sears, A. W. Two in a tour in South America. Appleton.....	1.80
An amusing account of a journey through South America.

HELPFUL BOOKS ON THE CRISIS IN EUROPE

Price

the shadow of a Russian bear persists, despite the fact that Russia happens to be the ally of England in the present conflict.

Ford, Edward & Home, Gordon. England invaded. Macmillan. $1.70
A serious and well-founded forecast of what would happen in case a German army landed on the English coast.

Jebb, Richard. The Britannic question. Longmans. 32
How to effect a closer and permanent union between self-governing states of the British empire is the test of Dr. Jebb's monograph.

Lea, Homer, General. The day of the Saxon. Harper. 1.62
This is a brilliant analysis of the part played by Saxon civilization in the world's history and a tribute to its great achievements.

Munroe, H. H. When William came. Lane. 1.05
A vivid and appealing, although imaginative story of what would happen to England if the Germans conquered her and began to alter the processes of government to the Hohenzollern pattern.

Wells, H. G. Social forces in England and America. Harpers. 1.80
According to Mr. Wells himself this gives "a fairly complete view of all my opinions."

Wingfield-Stratford, Esme. The history of English patriotism. 2 v. Lane. 6.75
A review of the great fervid moments of British history from the defeat of the Spanish Armada to the battle of Trafalgar.

FRANCE

Bracq, J. C. France under the Republic. Scribner. 1.27
An attempt to gauge the great political experiment of France during the last four decades, and to make an inventory of the constructive and reformatory work of the Republic.

Fling, F. M. & H. D. Source problems of the French revolution. Harpers. 99
A summary of documentary and other evidence.

Poincare, Raymond. How France is governed. McBride. 2.02
The president of the French republic in this volume gives us discussions of elementary civics as applied to French political life, tracing the history of the administrative machinery of the French government, national and local.

Vassili, Paul. France from behind the veil. Funk. 3.37
A chronicle of the social and political life of France for half a century beginning with the reign of Napoleon III and closing with the Paris of "the day before yesterday."

GERMANY

Bernhardi, F. Germany and the next war. Longmans. 2.70
This is a candid expression of the German purpose to predominate and created a great sensation in Germany when published, going through many editions in a short time. General Bernhardi does not merely produce a book in praise of war; he deliberately advocated not only preparation for war, but also war itself. He writes from the standpoint of one who thinks that aspirations for peace threaten to poison the soil upon which the German people live.

	Price
Bigelow, Poultney. History of the German struggle for liberty. Harper.....	$9.00
An account of the heroic moral and spiritual, as well as physical warfare which the German people waged to obtain the degree of liberty that they now possess.
Bulow, Bernhard von, Prince. Imperial Germany. Dodd.....	2.70
A story of the historical development of the German empire, by the ex-chancellor, with a discussion of how the Germans built a great naval power, why they have expanded colonially, and what Socialism means to them.
Collier, Price. Germany and the Germans from an American point of view. Scribner.....	1.27
One of the best discussions of the German people and their character and problems which has appeared in recent years. An unusually intimate knowledge fitted Mr. Collier for the task. A significant sentence at the end of the chapter on Frederick to Bismarck is "We shall have war when the German Kaiser touches a button and gives an order and the German people will have no more to say in the matter than you and I."
Evans, M. B. & Merhaut, Elisabeth. A character sketch of Germany. Heath.....	.90
A picture of modern imperial Germany by means of a series of readings in German by eminent German authors.
Fried, A. H. The German emperor and the peace of the world. Doran	1.80
A Nobel prize essay of immediate timeliness.
Holland, A. W. Germany. Macmillan.....	1.80
A new recounting of the story of Germany's nationhood, and how it came to be, from prehistoric times to the saber rattling of Zabern, written in clear, interesting style, is the volume "Germany," in The making of nations series. This volume is by A. W. Holland, of Oxford, author of "Germany to the present day."
Hurd, A. S. & Castle, Henry. German sea-power. Scribner.....	2.92
A book which may be said to ask the question "Will Anglo-Saxon or German civilization predominate in the world?" According to the authors, neither the United States or Great Britain has thoroughly understood the causes for the present naval and economic growth of the German empire, and in explanation they take the ground that Germany has a maritime history and possesses maritime instincts of which her naval development is an outcome.
Lichtenberger, Henri. Germany and its evolution in modern times. Holt.....	2.25
A book to be recommended unconditionally for its comprehensiveness, insight and impartiality.
Perris, G. H. Germany and the German emperor. Holt.....	2.70
A useful summary of the characteristics and achievements of William of Germany.
Roberts, Elmer. Monarchical socialism in Germany. Scribner.....	1.12
A succinct, workmanlike book on the efficient organization of the empire.
Shaw, Stanley. William of Germany. Macmillan.....	2.25
A sketch, by an Englishman, and for English readers, of the German emperor.

	Price
Tower, Charles. Germany of today . Holt.....	$0.45
A concise account written without any non-essentials.

Usher, R. G. Pan-Germanism . Houghton.....	1.45
Professor Usher, beginning with the great international movement, Pan-Germanism, considers the grounds for the existing jealousies between England and Germany, the relation of Russia, France, and Austria to the affair, the effects of the Balkan war upon the balance of power, and discussed with brilliance the relation of the United States to these new conditions in European diplomacy.

Wile, F. W. Men around the Kaiser . Lippincott.....	1.57
A fascinating, illuminating picture of those earnest, efficient personalities in war, government, finance, industry, art and diplomacy, who have made the German empire what it is.

AUSTRIA

Baker, James. Austria: her people and their home lands . Lane.....	5.85
An excellent informational description of the polyglot character of the Austrian empire.

Hengervar, L. H. von, Baron. Hungary's fight for national existence . Macmillan.....	2.92
A very illuminative presentation.

Hungary: its history and revolutions . Macmillan.....	.85
A serviceable history, with a memoir by Kossuth added.

Kellner, L. & others. Austria of the Austrians and Hungary of the Hungarians . Scribner.....	1.35
Packed full of information well put.

Steed, H. W. The Hapsburg monarchy . Scribner.....	2.25
An attempt to "dwell less upon the points of difference that upon the features and interests that are common to the peoples ruled by this famous house."

ITALY

McCullagh, Francis. Italy's war for a desert . Browne.....	2.48
Brilliant and comprehensive, but decidedly pro-Turkish.

Orsi, Pietro. Cavour and the making of modern Italy . Putnam.....	1.35
A sympathetic story of the career of the great Italian liberator and its significance.

Zimmern, H. Italy of the Italians . Scribner.....	1.27
A compact account of Italian characteristics and achievements.

THE BALKANS

Cassavetti, D. J. Hellas and the Balkan wars . Dodd.....	2.70
A study of Greek history during the past half century, particularly in its relation to the wars with Turkey and Bulgaria.

Lazarovich-Hrebelianovich, Prince. The Servian people; their past glory and their destiny . Scribner. 2 v.....	4.50
A glowing statement of Servia's ambitions.

Lyde, L. M. The Balkan peninsula . Macmillan.....	1.20
A useful compendium of maps.

	Price
	$3.60
MacDonald, John. Czar Ferdinand and his people . Stokes.....	1.35
A careful, judicial study of the personality of the Czar of Bulgaria, with a brief history of the Bulgarian people, and much that is useful about the Bulgarian army.

Sloane, W. M. The Balkans . Meth. bk.....	1.35
An exhaustive treatment of the causes, progress and results of the late wars with the Balkans.

RUSSIA

Graham, Stephen. Changing Russia . Lane.....	2.03
By a widely known traveler and scientific observer well acquainted with Russia.
Khuchevsky, V. O. History of Russia . Dutton. 3 v.....	2.25
Not a simple narrative of political or international happenings, but a remarkable study of Russian social, economic and international history based upon years of personal research in the available historical sources of the subject.

Mavor, James. Economic history of Russia . 2 v. Dutton.....	9.00
Russian history has been thoroughly rewritten within twenty years. It is a survey the importance of which can scarcely be over-estimated.

Vassili, Paul, Count. Behind the veil of the Russian court . Lane...	4.05
Intimate revelations of the social, political, and family life of the Russian royal family and their retinue.

Williams, H. W. Russia and the Russians . Scribner.....	1.27
An account of the political ascendancy and situation, and of the leading figures in Russian politics, as well as of the country's social and economic relations.

WAR

Angell, Norman. Arms and industry . Putnam.....	1.05
This companion volume to Mr. Angell's now famous book, "The great illusion," concerns itself chiefly with the relations and inter-relations between modern states. While it treats chiefly of the moral and material factors of international politics, it also discusses credit, military force, and diplomacy.

Grane, W. L. The passing of war . Macmillan.....	.90
In this volume, which Mr. Grane calls, "a study in things which make for peace," the text is given in a sentence of the late King Edward VII, of Great Britain: "I am convinced that as civilization advances, the influence of Christian teaching will tend increasingly to inoculate the love of peace."

Hurd, Archibald. Our navy . Warne.....	.45
An up-to-date, comprehensive history of the British navy, with figures and statistics particularly with regard to its development during the past twenty years.

Jordan, D. S. War and waste . Doubleday.....	1.12
Dr. Jordan is one of the best known and most courageous advocates of disarmament and general peace. He has for years been devoting his energies and time to convincing the world that war does not pay. This is a graphic and keen presentation of the economic loss occasioned by war.

		Price
Lamszus, Wilhelm. The human slaughter house. Stokes.....		$0.45
An extraordinarily keen analysis of the atrocities of war. All the deceptive glamor is stripped from battle and its horrors laid bare with shuddering, yet fascinating strokes.
Neland, O. H. The crimson fist. Badger.....	1.12
A brilliant indictment of war. The author "convicts" the home, the school, the church, the press, and government of molding the character of the individual "to a spirit of aggressive patriotism, and thus to love for war."
Newton, W. D. War. Dodd.....	1.08
"Sensational and disgusting, because it is an account of the sensational and disgusting thing called war." There is an introduction by Rudyard Kipling.
Noyes, Alfred. The wine press. Stokes.....	.54
A powerful argument in verse against war, with an epilogue that loftily visions the dawn of peace.
Schurman, J. G. The Balkan wars 1912-1913. Princeton univ. press	.90
A compact history, illuminatingly written, of the two Balkan wars of 1912-13, has been given by Dr. Jacob Schurman, president of Cornell university. This little volume is one of "The Stafford Little lectures."
Wells, H. G. The world set free. Dutton.....	1.22
An elaboration of Mr. Wells' creed which has for its goal the end of war, and the realization of a real parliament of the world. It crackles with Mr. Wells' best style.

TRADE OF THE WORLD

Whelpley, J. D. The trade of the world. Century.....	1.80
A comprehensive and stimulating account of the forces and facts that make up the activities of the great trading nations.

INTERNATIONAL LAW

Hershey, A. S. The essentials of international public law. Macmillan	2.70
In the preface Dr. Hershey states that "the work aims to furnish the teacher and student with an up-to-date text adapted to the needs of the classroom, and also to present the specialist as well as the general public with a scientific treatment of the subject."
Hill, D. J. A history of diplomacy in the international development of Europe. v. 3. Longmans.....	5.40
While not treating directly of the present conflict, or the causes that led up to it, Dr. Hill analyzes the forces that have guided the destinies of Europe for nearly two centuries.

THE AIR AS A BATTLEFIELD

Hazeltine, H. D. The law of the air. Doran.....	1.80
Hearne, R. P. Airships in peace and war. Lane.....	3.15
The new edition of this standard work on the theoretical influence of aeronautics on war.
Mellor, C. The airman. Lane.....	.85

POLITICS AND HISTORY

		Price
Buxton, Noel, & Harold.	Travel and politics in Armenia. Macmillan.....	$1.35
	An account of the extensive experiences of a traveler among that strange people, the Armenians, who, because of mutual jealousies of the Great Powers, may be one of the focuses of the later portion of the present European war.
Fullerton, W. M.	Problems of power. Scribner.....	1.90
	A survey of the relations of the Great Powers of the world and an analysis of the national situation during the past quarter of a century, from the standpoint of conscious national aims and political currents.
Gooch, G. P.	History of our times. Holt.....	.45
	An excellent summary of the history of Europe for the past quarter a century.
Ogg, F. A.	Social progress in contemporary Europe. Macmillan....	1.35
	An exhaustive and well-balanced account of the social advance of European peoples for a century.
Orth, S. P.	Socialism and democracy in Europe. Holt.....	1.22
	A very brilliant and stimulating account of the progress of socialism and social democracy throughout the continent.
Stuart-Linton, C. E. T.	The problem of Empire government. Longmans.....	1.05
	This contains several chapters on imperial defence, written nearly two years ago, prophesying the turbulent status of European governments now observed.
Torres, Albert.	Probleme mondial. National library (Rio de Janeiro)	No price given
	A study of the motives that guide nations in their relations one with the other, an especially interesting chapter being that on the Monroe doctrine, by this Brazilian writer.
Woods, F. A.	The influence of monarchs. Macmillan.....	1.80
	"Only very rarely has a nation progressed in its political and economic aspects save under leadership of a strong sovereign." This is the text of the author.

FICTION

Bazin, Rene.	Children of Alsace. Lane.....	1.17
	This book shows the deep feeling of loyalty to France opposed to German rule in the conquered district.
Bloem, Walter.	The iron year. Lane.....	1.12
	A novel which recently created a great sensation in Germany, where it was read aloud by the Kaiser to the members of the royal family.
Margueritte, Victor.	Frontiers of the heart. Stokes.....	1.12
	A graphic story of Alsace, of a Frenchwoman who married a German.
Oxenham, John.	Red wrath. Lane.....	1.12
	A story of the Franco-Prussian war dealing with many places now again the scene of war.
Palmer, Frederick.	The last shot. Scribner.....	1.14
	A work of fiction written by an eye-witness of all the important battles of the last twenty years, in a number of which Mr. Palmer took part. A drama rather than a novel.

SELECTED LIST OF PERIODICALS

		Price
American magazine. (monthly) N. Y.....		$1.50
Contains timely articles on subjects of current interest and men of the hour. Has good short stories and usually one serial.
Atlantic monthly. (monthly) Boston.....	4.00
Very excellent literary magazine, not illustrated and not popular in makeup.
Bird-lore. (bi-monthly) N. Y.....	1.00
The official organ of the Audubon societies. Devoted to the study and protection of birds. Well illustrated.
Current events. (weekly) Springfield, Mass.....	.40
A periodical for high school students, giving a weekly resumé of the current events. One of the best little magazines of its kind.
Everybody's magazine. (monthly) N. Y.....	1.50
One of the most popular of the cheap magazines. Contains articles on the present day problems, drama and fiction.
Garden magazine. (monthly) N. Y.....	1.50
Contains suggestions for house building and decoration as well as articles on gardens and gardening.
Good housekeeping. (monthly) Springfield, Mass.....	1.50
Of interest and value to housewives. Contains practical suggestions and household recipes. Devotes considerable space to cooking and serving food.
Harper's monthly magazine. N. Y.....	4.00
Ranks with the Century and Scribner's as an excellent general magazine, and has about the same general scope, dealing more with travel and popular science and rather less with history, biography and general literary criticism than the Century. The short stories are good and the serials usually appear later in book form. The illustrations are very good. The color plates have improved greatly in the past few years. Complete bound sets of Harper's are common and cheap but a full set is seldom necessary and requires at least an Abridged Poole's Index to make its contents accessible.
Harper's weekly. (weekly) N. Y.....	5.00
Independent magazine, which discusses topics of current interest, political, sociological, scientific and literary.
Ladies home journal. (monthly) N. Y.....	1.50
The most popular magazine for women in the field. Besides serials and short stories, often sentimental and trivial but always wholesome, contains brief articles on subjects of current interest, biographical and literary sketches, and regularly maintains departments devoted to fashions, fancy needlework, house furnishing and decoration, the preparation and serving of food, the care of children and the sick, and manners and morals—usually in the form of confidential letters to young men and women. Illustrations are not particularly valuable except those of fashions.—MACDONALD.
Literary digest. (weekly) N. Y.....	3.00
Digests articles from American and foreign magazines and newspapers which give a composite of public opinion. Also covers topics of interest in science and invention, the religious world, letters and art, miscellaneous.

Moderator-topics. (weekly) Lansing	$1.25
An educational magazine devoted to topics of interest to Michigan teachers.
National geographic magazine. (monthly) Washington	2.50
Contains well written and readable articles on travel and exploration all over the world. Admirably illustrated. As it is published by the National geographic society it is reliable and scientific in information.—VOUGHT.
Outing. (monthly) N. Y.	3.00
Well illustrated periodical of outdoor life.
Outlook. (weekly) N. Y.	3.00
One of the best known weeklies dealing with current events. Still maintains a distinctly religious tone though it is practically free from sectarian or theological bias. The regular numbers are chiefly devoted to discussions of social and political matters with one or two literary articles; the monthly "magazine numbers" contain more illustrations, fiction, and more matter of a general literary character. The book reviews are generally fair but rather colorless, especially the briefer ones. The editorials are always worthy of attention but within the last four or five years have become known as the expression of the personalities of the leading editors rather than impartial discussions. Shares with the Independent the distinction of being one of the most timely reference aids on current questions.
Popular electricity and modern mechanics. (monthly) Chicago ..	1.50
Popular magazine and widely read by men and boys.
Popular mechanics. (monthly) Chicago	1.50
Interesting to boys and amateur workmen, as it treats scientific subjects in a popular and interesting style.
St. Nicholas. (monthly) N. Y.	3.00
A popular, well-illustrated magazine for young people. Short stories, serials, articles on history, biography, travel and nature study. Special pages for small children. The articles are almost without exception well written, wholesome and interesting. Back volumes are well worth getting. There is a general index ($4) to v. 1-27.
Scientific American. (weekly) N. Y.	3.00
Popular presentation of science with practical information on technical subjects. Much read by boys and men.—VOUGHT.
Scientific American supplement. (weekly) N. Y.	5.00
World's work. (monthly) N. Y.	3.00
Excellent illustrated articles on the world's progress in various departments.
Youth's companion. (weekly) Boston	2.00
Much enjoyed by young people. Contains articles on a broad range of subjects, also short stories and serials. There are so few magazines for young people that a good, wholesome paper like this should not be overlooked.
